

Why...

Daddy, why did Mr. Whopper cut down his favorite tree?

Well Jeromy, remember back in March when it got really hot during the day time then very cold at night, that really hurt a lot of trees waking up from their winter sleep. Some trees got real sick while others never woke back up.

Daddy, why does Mrs. Blossom always seem so mad? Sometimes she says bad words when she sprays her bushes with that smelly stuff.

Mrs. Blossom means well, but she simply may not know enough about the bugs and the so called "smelly stuff" so she gets frustrated.

Shouldn't she call one of those tree people you talk about?

They are called certified arborist Jeromy.

Yeah dad, that's them.
An aaarrbbbooorriiisstt!

Mrs. Winkle told mommy her trees were burnt up, did she have a fire?

No, her trees may look burnt because they're sick. Some trees turn yellow, some drop their leaves early while others like Mrs. Winkle's look burnt.

Is she going to call one of those arbor people for help?

Hey dad, Mr. Bullwinkle told Mr. Magoo he was getting a hair cut for his oak tree this winter. Why is he doing this in the winter, won't it be cold out?

Actually, I think Mr. Bullwinkle was talking about pruning his tree. For the health of the tree, winter is a great time to prune.

Will those guys climbing up in the trees know what branches to cut?

You bet, I know several Certified Arborist over at Branch Tree Service and believe me, they're trained professionals who work on trees all year long.

Daddy, doesn't God take care of the trees?

Yes son, but it's our job to watch over them too. We need to feed them, give them water, prune them and give them medicine when they're sick.

You mean like Mr. Bullwinkle's oak tree and Mrs. Blossom's shrubs? And just like you and mommy take care of me?

Dad, I Think I Know Everything About Trees Now.

You do?

Yep, if Mr. Whopper had called a tree guy about his sick tree he wouldn't have had to cut it down. If
Mrs. Blossom had called that arborist person for help she wouldn't be saying bad words.
And, if people trimmed
their trees in the winter
we wouldn't have any sick trees. Right Dad?

Yes Jeromy, you have learned alot about trees.

Just one more question for you dad.

Why did Mr. Putty tell you he waxes his shrubs every Thanksgiving, I thought wax was for cars?

Mr. Putty was talking about a treatment that helps protect his trees and shrubs in the winter. Come to think of it Jeromy, it does act alot like a car wax but it's really called antidisicant material. It keeps needed moisture in the plants while winter sun rays are trying to dry them out.

Are we going to wax our trees and shrubs this Thanksgiving,?

My Daddy says the more we take care of our earth the more it will take care of us.

Everyone should talk to my daddy, he is a Certified Arborist and works for Branch Tree Service.

And my daddy's always right.
Isn't yours?
